Summary

I am an energetic videographer dedicated to finding unique ways to bring a client's vision to life. Equally important, however, are my interpersonal skills, which help me to thrive in collaborative environments and to build confidence in camera shy subjects. In addition, my diverse background in the study of visual culture gives me a sophisticated ability to interpret and build a visual language for a client. My specialty is creating videos for visual artists. I bring to this work a deep understanding of art history, personal experience as an artist, and a genuine passion for the importance of the arts. This, combined with my filmmaking skills and knowledge, allows me to conduct interviews that empower my artist clients. I study each client's art so as to formulate questions that serve as springboards to encourage them in telling the story of their work. The resulting video is one that communicates an understanding of the artist more effectively than an artist statement.
